AGGEPT CHALLENGE OF THE PRESIDENT

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, January 9.—All matters relating to the Panama Canal and the government of the canal zone and the management of the Panama Railroad will be investigated by the Senate committee on interoceanic canals. This was decided to-day at the first meeting of the committee. The investigation will begin on Tuesday next, although there may be a special meeting in the interim to take up the nominations of canal commissioners. Senator Gorman said he believed an investigation of canal matters should be entered upon at once, especially as an inquiry had been "courted" by the President, All members of the committee agreed that there should be an inquiry and the scope was considered at length. There seemed to he a sentimate in favor of reviewing the work of the canal commission from its inception. Senator Gorman drafted a resolution which was adopted by the committee and subsequently passed by the Senate, as follows:
"Presolved that the committee on inter-duently passed by the committee on interlows:

"Resolved that the committee on interoceanic canals or any sub-committee thereof, be and are hereby authorized to investigate all matters relating to the Panama Canal and the government of the canal zone and the management of the Panama Railroad Company, to send for persons and papers and to administer oaths and supley a stenographer to report such hearings; and that the committee he authorized to sit during the sessions or recess of the Senate and that all expenses thereof be paid out of the contingent fund of the Senate."

WITHIN RESTRICTIONS thanks in All the teachers seem to agree that it will be easy to make the proposed change in the primary grades, but that it will be a little more difficult with the grammar grades. To affect the change it is proposed that a shorter schedule of the various classes be inaugurated and that the recess be shortened. In addition it was suggested by Mr. Blanton that the teachers come to the school prepared to carry out their work without unnecessary detail or round-about way to get at the object to be attained. The schools cannot have louger sessions under the present system, unless the Council should take up the matter and decide to lengthen the present term. It would be possible, though, with the addition of more teachers, to add another year to the regular course—10 years—and make it eleven. But this, too, would necessitate a good many changes along other lines. The teachers are to make their reports by next Friday, when the complete report will be compiled by Professor Blanton and submitted to the committee from the school board. The board has the mutter under advisement, but of course, is not yet ready to make any statement,
